The Missouri AAUP Conference will be held on February 23 at Room B231 in Brady Commons on the University of Missouri Campus in Columbia (see map). At 10:00, Kathleen Markie, of the MU General Counsel’s Office, will address the conference on issues of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) and the new federal court rules on electronic discovery that include emails.

Erika Gubrium of the Berkeley AAUP Office will conduct two workshops dealing with issues of intellectual diversity. First, she will address basic organizing and communication strategies and second, on government relations—and in this case, waging a media campaign against HB 1315, the Emily Brooker Higher Education Sunshine Act, a redux of last year’s Intellectual Diversity bill.

More information on HB1315 will be available at the conference and also in the next issue of Missouri Academe. The opening paragraph of the bill is printed below, however, and explains why we will again need to close ranks in the coming months to defeat this intrusive political legislation.

(HB1315) The provisions of this section shall be known and cited as the "Emily Brooker Higher Education Sunshine Act". As used in this section, "intellectual diversity" is defined as the diversity of ideas that provides the foundation of a learning environment that exposes students to a variety of political, ideological, religious, and other perspectives, when such perspectives relate to the subject matter being taught or issues being discussed. As used in this section, "free exchange of ideas" includes intellectual pluralism and students’ right to learn in an environment that exposes them to an abundance of new knowledge, different perspectives, competing ideas, and alternative claims of truth.

Conference Speaker Profiles

Kathleen Murphy Markie has been a member of the General Counsel’s Office since 1987. She represents the University of Missouri on a wide range of matters, including faculty and student issues, grievance and disciplinary procedures, discrimination, research dishonesty, human subject research, privacy rights, employment, contracts and computing issues. Ms. Markie came to the University from the State Public Defender's Office (1985-1987) where she was First Assistant, Appellate Division, representing indigent criminal defendants in their appeals before the appellate courts of Missouri and in petitions for certiorari before the United States Supreme Court. She began her legal career as a law clerk to Judge Robert T. Donnelly of the Missouri Supreme Court and as a Research Attorney for the Missouri Supreme Court. Ms. Markie received her bachelor’s degree with majors in Philosophy and English, magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa, from the University of Massachusetts (Amherst), her M.A. and Ph.D. in Philosophy.

---

Join Us on February 23

Brooker Bill, Privacy Issues in Columbia Meeting

The Missouri AAUP Conference will be held on February 23 at Room B231 in Brady Commons on the University of Missouri Campus in Columbia (see map). At 10:00, Kathleen Markie, of the MU General Counsel’s Office, will address the conference on issues of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) and the new federal court rules on electronic discovery that include emails.

Erika Gubrium of the Berkeley AAUP Office will conduct two workshops dealing with issues of intellectual diversity. First, she will address basic organizing and communication strategies and second, on government relations—and in this case, waging a media campaign against HB 1315, the Emily Brooker Higher Education Sunshine Act, a redux of last year’s Intellectual Diversity bill.

More information on HB1315 will be available at the conference and also in the next issue of Missouri Academe. The opening paragraph of the bill is printed below, however, and explains why we will again need to close ranks in the coming months to defeat this intrusive political legislation.

(HB1315) The provisions of this section shall be known and cited as the "Emily Brooker Higher Education Sunshine Act". As used in this section, "intellectual diversity" is defined as the diversity of ideas that provides the foundation of a learning environment that exposes students to a variety of political, ideological, religious, and other perspectives, when such perspectives relate to the subject matter being taught or issues being discussed. As used in this section, "free exchange of ideas" includes intellectual pluralism and students’ right to learn in an environment that exposes them to an abundance of new knowledge, different perspectives, competing ideas, and alternative claims of truth.

---

Conference Registration

Conference preregistration is not necessary this year. Please join us at any time between 9:00-10:00am in room 231 of Brady Commons. You may pay at the door. If you have questions about the location, parking, or other matters, please contact:

Dr. Victoria Johnson
phone: (573) 884-9765
email: johnsonvi@missouri.edu

Registration Costs

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Full-time faculty</th>
<th>$20  (Includes Lunch)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Adjunct Faculty</td>
<td>$5  (also including Lunch)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

You will have an opportunity to order from Quizno’s menu when you arrive. Lunch will be delivered to the conference site.

Parking

Dr. Johnson suggests that you have coins on hand if you use nearby metered parking.
from the University of Rochester, and her J.D. from the University of Missouri-Columbia. She is admitted to practice law in Missouri, and before the United States District Courts for the Eastern and Western Districts of Missouri, the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, and the United States Supreme Court. She has served as co-Chair and Chair of the Missouri Bar Association Education Law Committee, and on various committees of the National Association of College and University Attorneys.

Erika Gubrium has two Master's degrees (one in Horticulture; the other Science Teaching) and a Ph.D. in Social Foundations of Education (University of Florida), with a focus on labor history within K-12 public education. She has published articles in the fields of molecular and evolutionary genetics, proteomics, and qualitative research methodology. In addition to her academic background, Erika worked extensively on campaigns with graduate assistants and faculty during her years as a graduate employee in Florida. She has continued this work for the three years she has served on the national organizing staff of the AAUP. She also serves as co-staff for AAUP's Committee on Contingent Faculty and the Profession.